"What part of the motor is that, Coach?" impatiently asks a Driver's Ed student. In addition to his other numerous activities, Coach Jenkins teaches the fundamentals of safety to many sophomores.

Dedication

COACH EULAS "RED" JENKINS

Because of the innumerable services he has rendered to our town, our school, and ourselves; because of the unrestrained zeal with which he has helped both individuals and groups; because of the fashion by which he has come to garner the respect and appreciation both of those who have been fortunate enough to work with him and of those who have not been so lucky; and because of the love and dedication he has demonstrated for YHS and its interests, we, the staff of the 1965 yearbook, on behalf of everyone concerned with Yazoo High School, dedicate our 19th edition of Mingo Chito to Coach Eulas Stamps "Red" Jenkins.

A common sight at the football field is Coach Jenkins on the telephone. As he listens to his assistants in the press box, he notes necessary corrections to be made in the defense.

Foreword

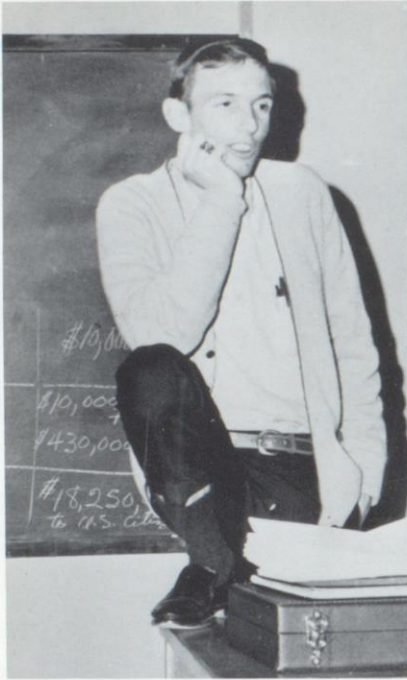

A year has passed before us, a year that greatly influenced the people, the life, and the spirit of YHS. Its people epitomized the life of typical free American students. Its life reflected the goal of higher education which was shared by all students. Its traditional spirit captured everyone during a year filled with sports, studies, and memorable activities.

Now, after tumultuous joys and crushing heartaches have passed and lost their significance, a melancholy ardor has taken an eternal hold on the heart of each Yazooan.

So that you will remember one of the most valuable years of your life, we, the 1965 MINGO CHITO staff invite you to go with us through Yazoo High to see its people, its life, and its spirit.

Its People . . .

Six hundred pushing students often make jaunts to class something less than comfortable.

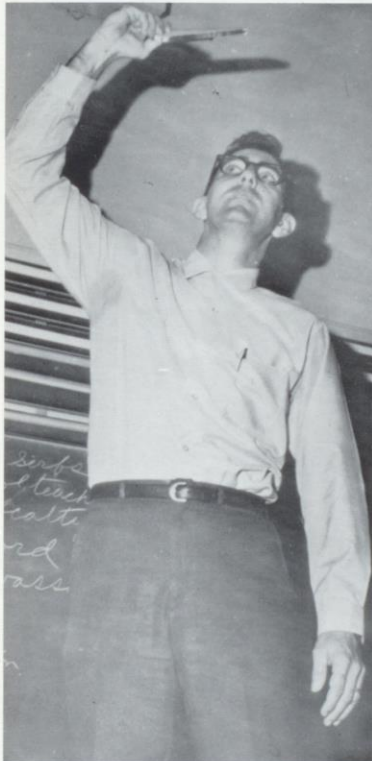

"You know, having 4th period library is worth it. Just think of those poor kids standing out there in line."

"Did you say . . . , no, you couldn't have said that."

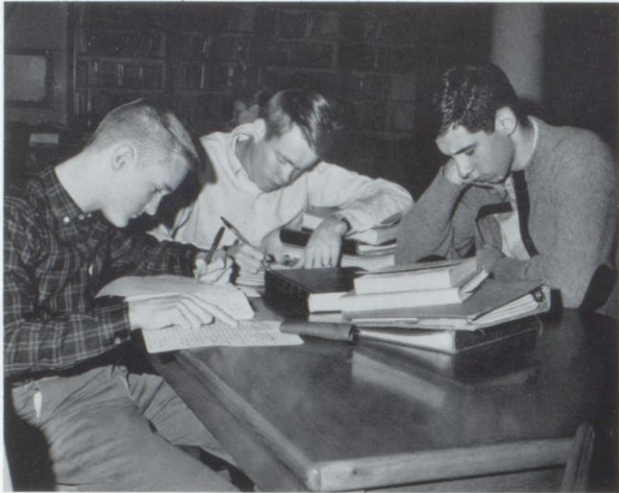

"Hurry, we have five minutes to get ready for another performance!" The Mixed Chorus programs were truly high points on the assembly schedule.

Mr. Massey assumes a regal perch in hot pursuit of a queen bee.

"If these assembly programs don't last longer, I'll have to do my algebra."

We understood people studied in the library, but this is the first time we've ever seen it done.

As spring sprung and sap began to rise, young lovers like Sherry Burrell and Aubert King were to be seen everywhere.

Mr. Beers prepares the concert band for the oncoming performance at the state festival.

Its Life . . .

"Watch out, Richard! They're closing in fast!"

There is nothing like a homeroom party to let people know who is a pig.

Joe's, the Do-nut shop, and the Tastee-Freeze, which is shown here, are favorite haunts for those who protested against the lunch-room's balanced menus.

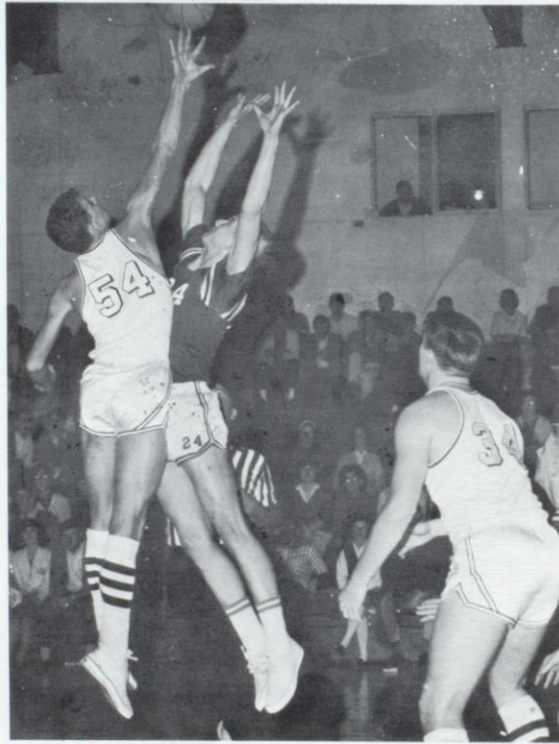

Only at day's end do students leisurely stroll down the hall without the furious rush experienced between classes.

Big Kid Simmons puts the stretch on, as other Indians anxiously await the resulting action.

Coach Hassin and her "femme fatales" gives the student body a few chuckles before the Central game.

"Go, Indians, go!" cries Suzy Nicholas, as she and Beth Bagwell raise school spirit previous to the Greenwood slaughter.

Good Administrators

MR. FRED W. YOUNG
Superintendent of Yazoo
City Public School System

For his ceaseless efforts to better the standards of the Yazoo City Public Schools, YHS is indebted to Mr. Fred W. Young. His leadership in the city and state has made him respected and loved by students and residents of Yazoo City. Having completed his eighteenth year of service as superintendent, Mr. Young has stood as a bulwark of integrity and Christian ideals.

Mrs. Doris Caperton, Mrs. W. T. Fitzhugh and Mrs. Edna Brooks, secretaries to the superintendent.

Mold Characters.

MR. C. M. DUNN, Dunn Cotton Co.

MR. JOHN HOLMES, Attorney

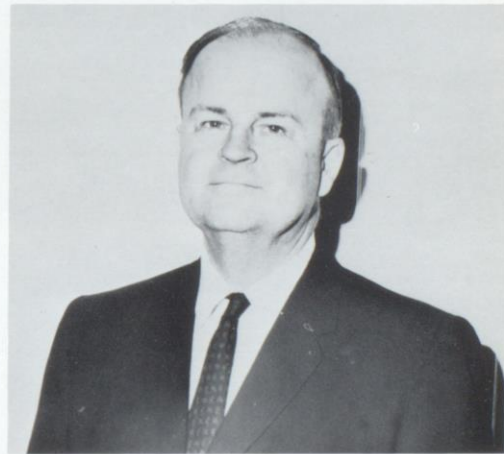

MR. E. D. LOTT, Miss. Supply Co.

School Board

The five local businessmen who composed the school board have completed another year of service with the interests of Yazoo City's children in mind. The 1964-1965 school year was an example of the cooperation and effort each man made to guide the school system.

The president of the board, Mr. John Graeber and the other members welcomed the contributions of a new member, Dr. D. B. Roark.

President of Board, MR. JOHN GRAEBER, Graeber Brothers Co.

DR. D. B. ROARK, Miss. Chemical Corp.

MR. HAROLD C. KELLY
Assistant Superintendent and Principal

Words cannot express the sincere admiration and respect that all YHS students hold for their principal, Mr. H. C. Kelly. His affable manner, combined with dignity and resolution, have formed not only a well rounded individual, but a responsible school administrator.

MRS. CAROLYN JOHNSON
Secretary to the Principal

MR. SABIN RUSH
Assistant Principal
Counselor
Coach

MISS HATTIE RICHARDSON
Supervisor of Instruction

Undoubtedly one of the busiest members of the school faculty, Coach Sabin Rush serves as assistant principal and counselor to students, yet still finds time to coach the girls' basketball team. Every day students may be seen leaving Coach Rush's office after consulting him on such matters as schedules or which college they should attend.

Warmly received in every classroom, Mrs. Hattie Richardson, the supervisor of instruction in all Yazoo City schools, renders an invaluable service by helping inexperienced teachers to perfect a teaching technique and to give additional aids to skilled teachers. YHS is indebted to Mrs. Richardson for her dedicated and beneficial services.

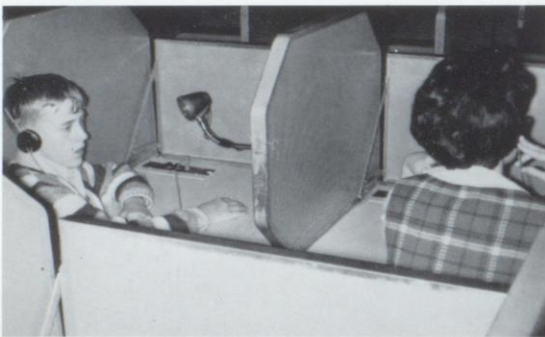

Languages, to Link Cultures

DR. GUSTAVO GARCIA, Spanish; Law degree,
Havana University.
MRS. ELEANOR LESTER, Latin, Spanish; B.A.,
Millsaps College.

"Now Sonny, you may be listening but, you're not repeating." Freshmen who have taken Spanish at the Junior High find the audio-linguo lab a long needed aid to improve their Spanish accents.

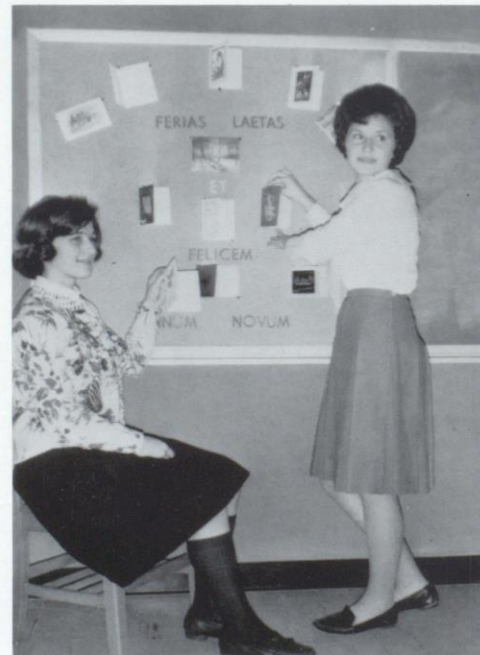

"Okay, John, it's a date!" Let's hope that Linda Carson didn't get her switches crossed while she played with the controls on Dr. Garcia's desk.

What would the world be like if no one had ever tried to decipher any language but his own? Certainly, the world would not be as it is today. There would be no diplomatic relations; there might not even be many of the new nations that we have today. Progress would be at a standstill, and each country with its own language and customs, would live only in its own realm. Religions would be varied in each country and we in America would probably be pagans. Languages are the keys to progress and our modern world. For this reason, students at YHS are encouraged to study either Latin, the foundation of the Romance languages, or Spanish, the language spoken by our southern neighbors.

"Mrs. Lester, please tell us what these Latin Christmas cards say," plea Latin II students Carolyn Quin and Debbie Nelson. The Latin classroom has colorful mementos of the foreign countries on the bulletin board and walls.

English, Our Foundation

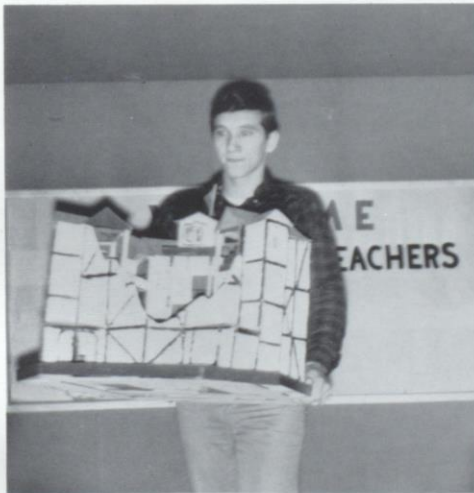

MR. JIMMY D. CALDWELL, Speech and English; Univ. of Miss., B.A.
 MISS MARTY CARROLL, English; Delta State, B.S.E.
 MR. LINFIELD MILLER, English; B.A., M.C., M.A., Millsaps.

MRS. J. W. PARKER, English; M.A., Miss. College.
 MISS ANN ROGERS, English; Univ. of Miss., B.A.

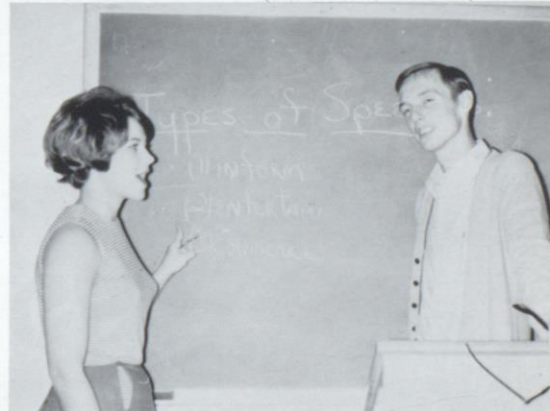

Mr. Miller asked for book covers and, boy, did he get them! Cheryl Johnston, the Mingo Cbito artist, views other YHS talent with an admiring glance.

Through excellence in speaking and writing, one can climb the ladder of success. The English department at YHS, realizing this fact, endeavors to imprint on each mind the basic structure of the English grammar. Students are also led into the magical, poetic and historical worlds of literature in the English language.

There goes Greg Horne with the Globe Theater, which is used for the English IV Shakespearean round table.

"And now, you tell me the three types of speech, Mr. Caldwell," teases Mary Lee Anderson. The new speech instructor not only informs his students of the correct way to speak, but entertains them with his wit.

Science, The Door to the Future

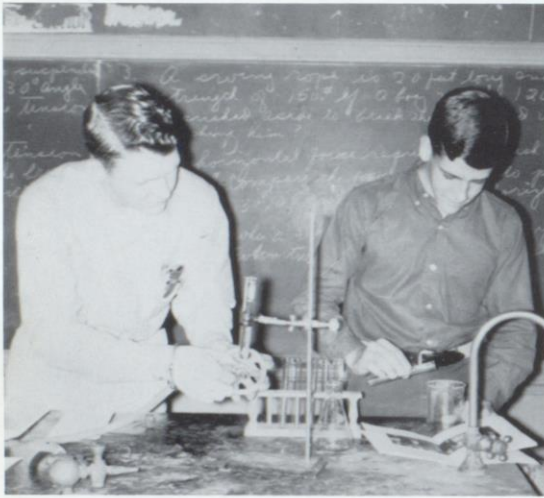

MRS. NETTIE FERRIS, Science; B.S., Belhaven College.

MR. GEORGE RICHARDSON, Chemistry, Physics; Masters, Graduate Work, Univ. of Miss., Univ. of Utah.

MRS. NAOMI ROBERDS, Biology; B.S., MSCW.

"Lonnie, now you sift the flour while I pour in the cyanide. This'll make a nice little cake for the teachers," jokes Byron Seward.

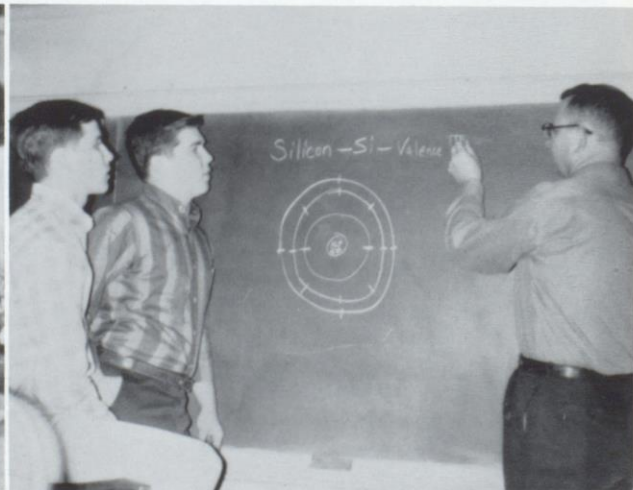

"This is a Luna moth, Owen." Biology classes just wouldn't be interesting without Mrs. Robberds' visual aids.

To keep up with the great advancements being made in the field of science, YHS offers general and senior science along with more advanced courses in biology, chemistry, and physics. Enriched science programs and clubs are also a part of the science department. The Jets Club is sponsored by Mr. George Richardson. The Jets strive for the advancement, development, and education of tomorrow's scientists. Science programs included speakers from various colleges and agencies in Mississippi and the science fair. Many enthusiastic science and mathematics students participated in the annual fair. This activity gave the student a chance to excel in science outside the classroom.

YHS boasts two up-to-date laboratories and some of the best research equipment available.

"These poor students have been going around in circles trying to figure out the structure of an atom." "Won't you please help them, Uncle George?"

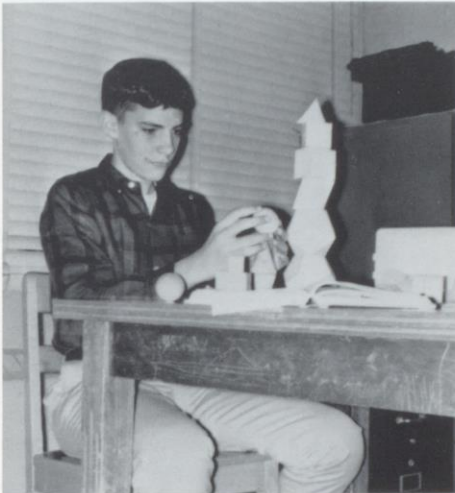

Mathematics, Puzzle of the Ages

MR. KENNETH W. BUCKLEY, Mathematics and Counselor; M.A., Miss. Southern.
 MRS. GEORGE CLARK, Mathematics; B.A., Longwood, Virginia.
 MR. LESLIE C. CLARK, Mathematics and Coach; B.S., Miss. Southern.

"Jim, don't you think you're a little too old to be playing with blocks? Oh, it's a project in geometry." He'll never balance that sphere on the cone!

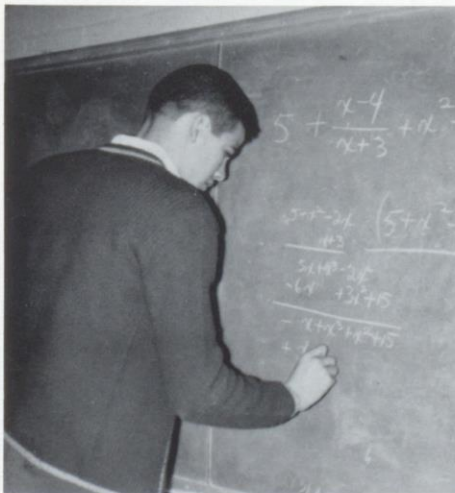

MRS. H. E. WATSON, Mathematics; B.S., Millsaps College.

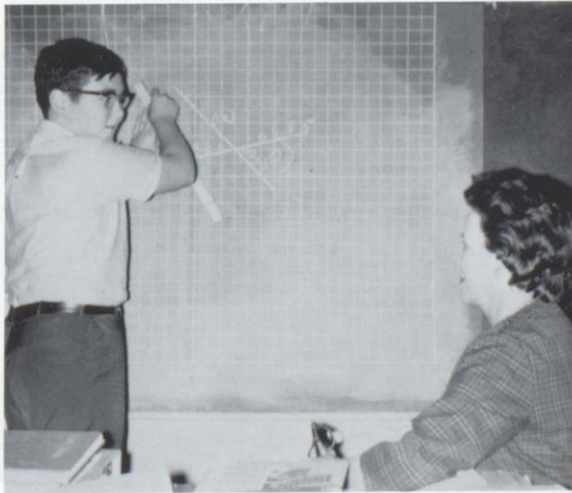

Modern Algebra, Plane Geometry, and Business mathematics are the subjects YHS students dread until they enroll in the class and see the unlimited mysteries solved by numbers. One cannot imagine the thrill enjoyed by solving a difficult mathematic problem until he, himself, has entertained the experience. Besides being a helper in everyday problems, it is the language of science and queen of the future. This year YHS, began to introduce modern mathematics and in future years, an advanced course in mathematics will be offered.

Now multiply by $x+3$, add the numerators and subtract the amount of change you have in your pocket. Joey Regan is really going to town with his Algebra II problem.

"I'm learning fast, aren't I, Mrs. Watson?" asks freshman Norman Mott. Making graphs is a new adventure for 9th grade Algebra students who never knew one could find unknowns by the intersection of two straight lines.

Social Studies, The History of Mankind

MISS MARGARET HESTER, American History, Social Science, Counselor, and Coach; B.A., MSCW.
 MR. JERRY JOHNSON, Social Studies, Coach; B.S.E., Delta State.
 MR. DEWITT MASSEY, World History; M.A., Miss. College.

MRS. C. D. WILLIAMS, History; B.A., Blue Mountain College, Graduate Study, Univ. of Alabama.

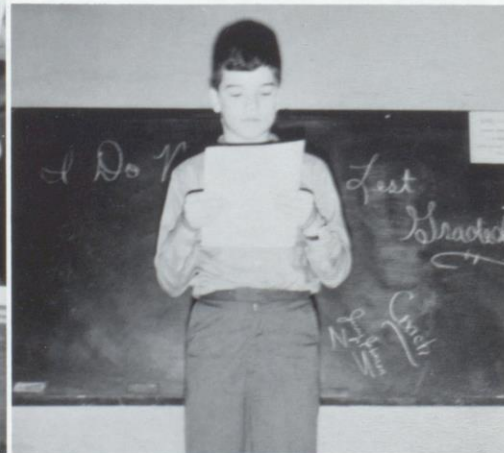

Are Miss Hester and Betty Jo discussing American History, or could it be basketball?

At YHS the social studies department opens six fields of history and economics to its students. Mississippi History and American History credits are imperative for a high school diploma. This past year a six weeks' course on the evils of communism, which should better prepare students to recognize the communist propoganda that they will face in the future, was added to the History field.

"What's this world coming to?" Larry Bloom seems to be pained over something his world history class is reading about in their Senior Scholastic.

"And let's not forget that Jefferson Davis was the only Mississippian who wasn't down-graded by the liberals!" We hope Bill Brigham will get an "A" for this report.

Music, That Calms the Mind

MR. S. C. BEERS, Band Director Jr. and Sr. High; Hendrix College, Ark.
 MISS BERNICE GAY, Public School Music and Choral Director; B.M., M.M., Med., Belhaven, Peabody, LSU.
 MR. DONALD VAUGHAN, Assistant Band Director; U.M., M. of Music, Memphis State.

At one time or another every veteran student at YHS experienced delight when he passed by the band room during a lively practice session. The school band under the direction of Beers and Vaughan was a section of school activities that made every student feel proud.

Another division of the music program was the Mixed Chorus, various ensembles, and the music classes which were under the instruction of Miss Bernice Gay. The chief goal of the music program was to increase interest in music as well as to teach to as many students as possible the fundamentals of this classic art.

Both the band and the Mixed Chorus joined other schools in festivals and contests of friendly competition. Students in these organizations also benefit by receiving service points for their musical participation.

Surprise! James Dawes and assistant band instructor, Mr. Vaughan, are showing off one of the new fiber glass bass horns the band bought this year.

"Come now, Mr. Beers, you don't expect me to play that!" teases head majorette Kathy Crowder.

"From Shore to Shore in this great land we live in" Three of Miss Gay's music students practice for one of the many assembly programs given by the first year choral group.

Home Economy for Young Ladies

MRS. RALPH C. HUNT, Homemaking; MSCW, B.A.

"What's that I smell burning? Not my skirt, I hope!" wonders Mary Anderson in a typical homemaking class.

Threading a machine gets easier every time Singer puts out a new model. Diane Foster had no trouble with her machine.

"Nelda, I never thought that sewing would be so easy. I don't even have to ask Mrs. Hunt for help every five minutes," remarked Alice Faye Dew.

In the fast advancing world of today, emphasis is being placed on the women in the business world. The homemaking department endeavors to place this emphasis on the woman's place in the home. In grades 9-12 a student taking homemaking learns how to prepare a well-balanced, tempting meal and also the arts of personality development, good grooming, and serving. A student studies family relations and receives careful instruction in home furnishings and child care. The homemaking students are the builders of the homes for America's future. Homes where truth, love, security, and faith will be realities.

"Clothes come cleaner with Tide," agree Anne Keene and Glenda Seay.

Commercial Department for Practical Training

MISS LOUISE HENDRIX, Shorthand, Typewriting, Secretarial Training; MSCW, B.S.

MRS. NELSON ISREAL, Bookkeeping, Business English, Business Training, Typewriting; Miss. Delta, A.A., Delta State, B.S., U.M., M.B.

"Dear John, Have you ever thought about . . . well, about . . . bad breath?" Now, Norma surely your boss didn't dictate this letter!

"Hands on your keys, eyes on your books, . . . Begin," instructs Miss Hendrix, one of the typing teachers at YHS. This is just one of the familiar directions repeated again and again by the proficient teachers of the Commercial Department. The five minute timings and tabulation problems in the typewriting classes taught by Miss Louise Hendrix and Mrs. Nelson Isreal brought back memories of adding, subtracting, and dividing, only to have the whole thing wrong. Transcriptions in shorthand and practice sets in bookkeeping sometimes discouraged the want-to-be-perfect students into incessant indolence.

The Commercial Department aids the Yazoo City business community in many ways, one of which is by training efficient office personnel and by offering night classes for adults and students.

"And I thought learning my 'a, b, c's' was hard!" exclaims Mary Sutherland in a state of panic preceding a typing test.

Now is the time for all good men to . . . reach 40 words a minute or fail the course. Have no fear, we know these boys will make it.

Training for Safe Driving and Physical Fitness

MR. JOHN E. EDMONDS, Physical Education and Coach; B.S., Masters, Univ. of Miss.
MR. E. S. JENKINS, Athletic Director, Coach, and Driver Training; M.A. in Phy. Ed., Univ. of Miss.

Under the supervision of Coach El Edmonds, the students of YHS improved in body and mind as they were paced through vigorous calisthenics and sessions on the fundamentals of various sports. The goal of the physical education course is to teach the way of a good sportsman as well as to furnish students with a healthful and informative activity. Students eagerly participated in sports such as dodge-ball, basketball, and football.

Students at YHS take great interest in the Driver's Education Program which is under the direction of Coach "Red" Jenkins. During the first months of the course the students study the basic mechanics of a car and numerous safety precautions. To complete his training, each driver demonstrated his skill in the specially equipped drivers' education car.

There goes Norma Gill, she is such a conscientious driver! After a few of the gruesome films showing color scenes of fatal accidents on the highway, all YHS students began to drive more carefully.

"Wow," yells Weezie Phillips, "if I were as good in Algebra as I am playing basketball, I'd be a genius." During the year students learn such valuable things as how to play baseball, basketball, and volleyball. No P.E. session goes by without an exhilarating drill in exercise. Students also spend one term on a first aid course.

Vocational Training for Future Endeavors

MR. A. L. BOND, Diversified Occupations, Distributive Education; M.Ed., Miss. State.
MR. JAMES H. BURCHFIELD, Industrial Arts and Mechanical Drawing; B.S., Miss. State.

To develop future leaders for marketing and distribution in the community, YHS offers to juniors and seniors the enrollment in Distributive Education. There are two types of programs offered in D.E.: cooperative and preparatory. In the cooperative program, students in the morning take the academic subjects required for graduation and at least one period in Distributive Education; and in the afternoon they experience on-the-job training. The preparatory training consists of marketing and related subjects which permit the student to remain in school all day and continue with academic subjects. The student receives work experience on weekends and holidays.

Mechanical arts, the language of industry, is a rewarding course to all students, but especially those interested in engineering. With such precision instruments as the triangle and T-square, the students draw their ideas to scale.

While participating in the D.E. program, Jenell Kight works diligently as she keeps books for Hillary White's Builders Supply.

Ronnie Allen is one of the many YHS students who benefit from the Diversified Occupations course.

"Be careful, Ted, this machine can easily chop off those little fingers," warns Mr. Burchfield. The woodworking students turn out top grade finished products with skill and ease.

Library, Center of Cultural Activities

MRS. MARY EMMA
SMITH, Librarian;
B.A., MSCW, M.S. La.
State Univ.

"Hum, such a quiet, studious atmosphere, so conducive to study. Something must be up though. Do I detect a slight expression of mischief on Charles' face?"

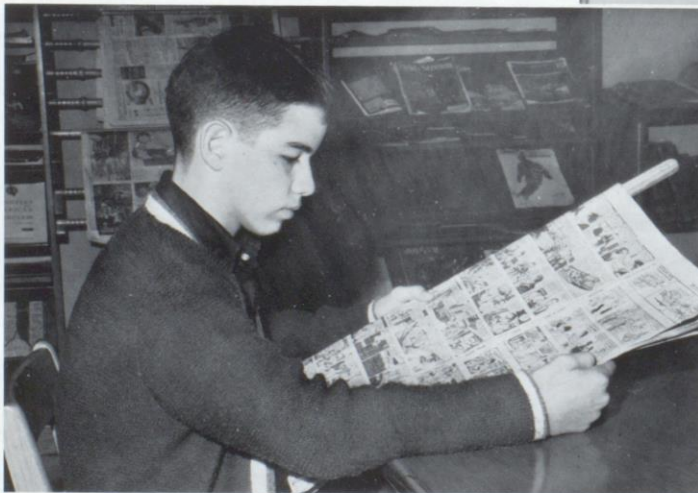

Equipped with the best reference books, card catalogue, and reading materials, the library at YHS offered an atmosphere conducive to study.

Student librarians were busy helping other students find a reference book or novel, when Mrs. Smith wasn't available. They also helped by checking out and putting up books.

Sometimes the library was the place for a social gathering rather than a quiet meditative place of study and learning. Seniors were the first to claim the conference rooms and the last to leave it. Dearest memories of YHS will be those of the library.

"Let's get this one," yells Fran Cooper as she models one of the many robes which Seniors may choose for graduation. The library is one of the large rooms which Seniors use for their class meetings.

"Li'l Abner gets himself into the biggest messes," grins Tommy Phillips, who is involved daily in the comic strip. In addition to the daily newspapers from Jackson and Memphis, the library provides the reader with the Yazoo City Herald, and the school paper. Copies of popular and informing magazines are also offered for the interested student.

Cafeteria, to Feed Hungry Students

MRS. H. G. HAIRSTON, Yazoo Public School Dietician.
MRS. ROSA HARRISON, Manager of Cafeteria.
MRS. L. O. HILL
MRS. J. T. KETCHUM

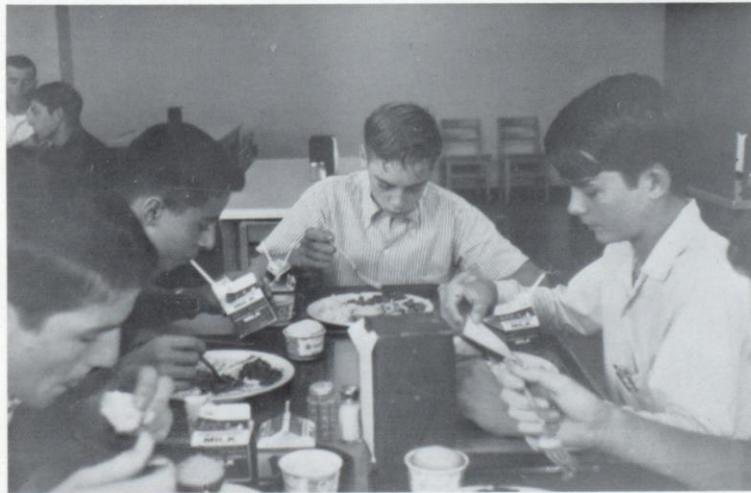

MR. O. C. SHANNON
Maintenance Supervisor

"No, No! Bob, only two rolls per person. Just because you're a growing boy doesn't give you special privileges." "I know Mrs. Hairston, but they're so good." The staff in the YHS cafeteria has prided themselves in their excellent cooking, and the students at YHS have realized how lucky they are.

The fact that excellent food was prepared for the students in the cafeteria at YHS was proved by the long lunch lines every day at noon! After sniffing noses caught the pleasing odor of homemade biscuits, students raced to the lunch line. Not only was the food appetizing, but it was a nutritious, balanced diet.

Mr. O. A. Shannon, Maintenance Supervisor, kept YHS in good condition, despite the punishment her 660 occupants gave her. Whenever a pipe burst, a door hung, a light went out, or a locker got stuck, Mr. Shannon was there with his tool-box to repair the damages.

"Wonder what my fortune cookie says," muses Perry Hisaw. These boys consume food like vacuum cleaners. Who wouldn't after a hard morning sitting in a school desk using your brain? After all, that's hard work for most students.

Freshman Class

Georganna Clark, Danny Hood, Bo Kelly

A friendly attitude and willingness to work won Danny Hood the presidency of his class. Danny played Junior High football and was a member of the Hi-Y Club. Although he is quiet and easygoing, Danny merited membership in the S-Club.

The duties of vice-president were efficiently handled by Bolling Kelly, who is better known as "Bo." In Junior High he received the American Legion Award. This year Bo played on the Junior High football team and also served as vice-president of his home-room.

Serving as secretary-treasurer of her class, Georganna Clark proved her dependability. Georganna's outgoing personality and friendly smile won her a place in the hearts of all her classmates.

Sophomore Class

Bonnie Johnston, Charles Wright, Jim Simmons

As a compliment to his popularity at YHS, Jim Simmons was elected Sophomore class president. His athletic achievement included excellence in football, basketball and track. He was a member in both the Freshman-Sophomore Hi-Y Club and the Y-Club. Jim served ably in student activities as vice-president of his homeroom.

Charlie Wright, known for his warm smile and winning personality, was chosen to lead the Sophomores as their vice-president. Charlie has been exceptionally active in all phases of school life. He was a Hi-Y Club member and on the football team.

Bonnie Johnston, a lively and vivacious person, is a very qualified officeholder and has demonstrated this by being elected secretary of the Sophomore class. The list of Bonnie's activities is long. She was a Y-Teen member, a guard on the basketball team, an alternate cheerleader and secretary of her homeroom. Bonnie also represented her home room in the Yazoo County Fair Beauty Contest.

Junior Class

Barbara Knott, Larry Bell, David Roberts

Larry Bell, active in all phases of school life, was the Junior Class' choice for president. Displaying good sportsmanship in football and basketball, Larry was a key member of each team. An active member of both the S-Club and Hi-Y Club, "Ding-Dong" did not let his athletic endeavors hinder his study or leadership.

In his sophomore and junior years versatile David Roberts was the class' choice for the office of vice-president. He further proved his leadership ability by serving as president of the Junior-Senior Hi-Y Club. David's athletic ability was demonstrated on both the football and basketball teams. A member of the S-Club for two years, David was elected a Student Council representative his junior year and was one of its most active participants in its projects.

Sincere, friendly, and capable—these words describe Barbara "Cissy" Knott, secretary-treasurer of the Junior Class. Not only was Barbara an S-Club member throughout high school, but she also maintained an "A" average. Joining the yearbook staff her sophomore year, she proved a valuable addition to this group. Barbara was a five-year member of the band and a majorette for two years.

All juniors eagerly awaited the day when they would select their senior rings. This year the excitement was even greater for after twenty-five years the traditional senior ring design was changed. Lonnie Stricklin and Beth Bagwell, like the rest of the juniors, excitedly waited their turn to select the type ring they desired.

Class of 1965

Caroline Barbour, Ben Darby, Richard Murphy

The Senior Class President, Richard Murphy, is one of the busiest and most responsible people at YHS. He has participated in football, track, and basketball while at the same time maintaining membership in the S-Club. During his junior year "Murphy" was elected to the National Honor Society and to Boys' State.

Vice President Ben Darby, having maintained an S-Club average and served as a homeroom officer, would be well qualified to "fill in" if needed.

Ben's own experience in playing varsity basketball and lettering in golf, has aided him in giving to the Yazooan vivid accounts as Sports Editor.

In her modest way Caroline Barbour has not sought praise or honor, but it has been given to her. In her junior year she received the highest honors at YHS by being elected a representative to Girls' State and a member of the National Honor Society. This year Caroline is serving as State TAP Chairman and editor of the Yazooan.

"Margaret, sometimes I wish I were Kitty's age again."

The Senior Class production, "Seventeenth Summer," was one of the most successful plays ever given at YHS. The director, Mr. Jimmy Caldwell, chose the cast from over the 50 seniors who tried out. The chosen thirteen, along with the assistant director Frances Cooper and stage manager "Norman" Norquist, worked many long nights to turn out a play that will not be soon forgotten by any of the over 1,500 people who attended.

"You'll never believe where I found this."

Was it a rough trip, Penny, or was it a rough trip?

Only our guide could outwalk the rest.

On Friday, April 30, at 5:30 A.M. the seniors of YHS left on a never to be forgotten trip. Friday afternoon and Saturday morning provided the more educational features of the trip, the guided tours. Saturday afternoon brought fun at the beach. While Saturday night was for some a first experience, for everyone the night and the entire trip left many happy memories.

Our Senior Trip

"We would like 17 Hurricanes and one Shirley Temple Special."

Class Day

"Annie Jane, you've got a lovely father."

You always wanted to be a pitcher, so here's one.

"I, Ben Darby, leave my modesty to Ray Heidel."

"Do you remember when Skippy killed the bird at Main Street?"

Haley, how did you ever recognize her?

Supt. Fred W. Young presented his yearly speech to the seniors, "This Life of Ours."

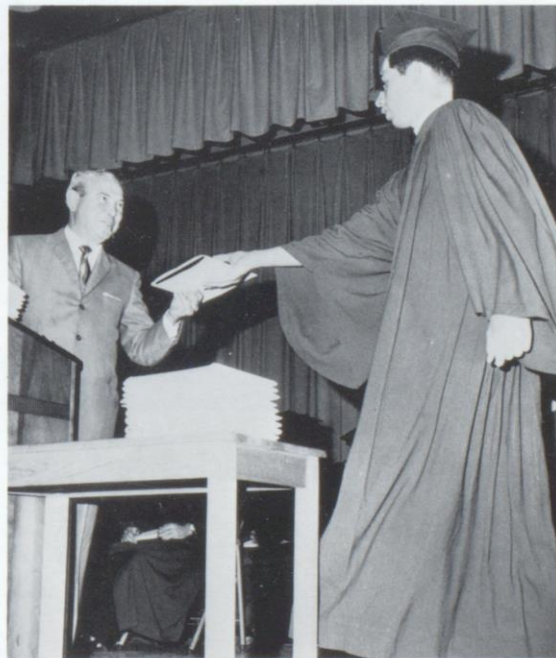

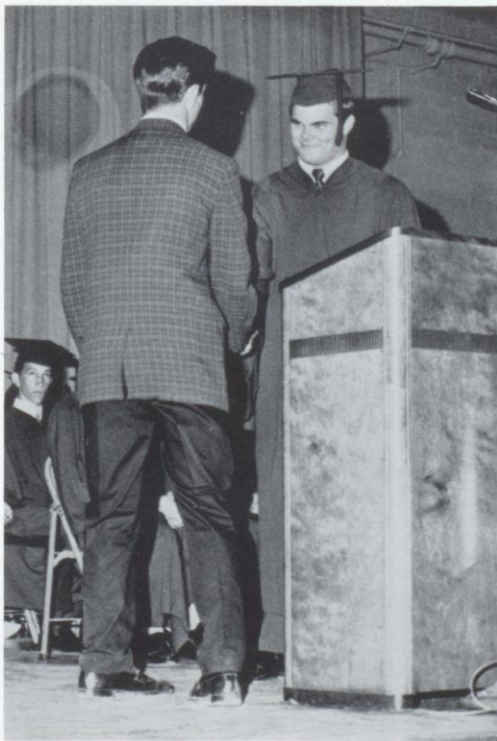

Accompanied by the YHS band, the senior ensemble presented for the capacity crowd an arrangement of "Deep Purple" by Peter DeRose.

"On behalf of the Junior class, I gratefully accept this memorial," says Larry Bell, President of the Junior class. "I think the school will always remember this 1965 graduating class when they use the duplicating machine."

Our only 1965 Merit Finalist, Bob Walker, having been judged on perseverance, initiative and other traits of character, was offered many scholarships from colleges all over the United States.

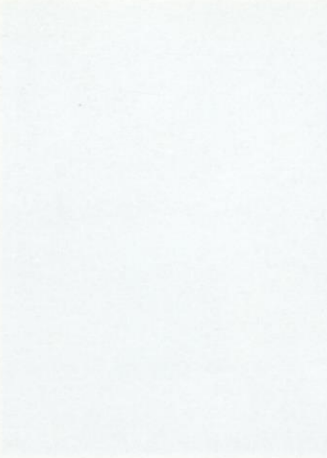

"Congratulations, Colin." In the absence of Mr. J. L. Graeber, president of the school board, Mr. C. M. Dunn conferred diplomas to 138 graduating seniors on May 31, 1965.

"The meeting will now come to order," President Haley Barbour said to the council. "We have a lot to do." Certainly, this was true for the Student Council remained at work with the best interests of the school and its people foremost at heart.

Some of its many activities this year included sponsoring homecoming, selling Yazoo Indian pen-nants, commemorating annual Teacher Appreciation Week, and supervising student council elections. Exercising one of its privileges, the Student Council amended the YHS constitution so that each homeroom could have one representative with voice but no vote.

"Make sure you get it straight!" admonishes Jerry Neal to Mark Merkle. "We really want it to look good." These two boys proudly display the safety poster entered in competition by Coach Clark's homeroom during Safety Month.

"I don't care if the roof is falling in or not, David, I'm going to buy one of these Indian pennants," shouts Griffin Norquist to David Hatchett as Ronnie Harris eagerly solicits the funds of his fellow students.

The Safety Council, composed of homeroom vice-presidents, stressed safety in all phases of school life. Safety plays a vital part in all school activities. Certain rules have been made regarding the safety of all the students. Running and yelling are forbidden in the halls as well as on the steps. The many safety rules of the school are established for our own benefit and each student should try to regard them at all times.

"Honorable judges, worthy opponents, ladies and gentlemen," thus the 1964-65 Yazoo High Debate team officially began their debating year in an assembly program. The topic for this year, Disarmament, was discussed in a heated debate among our own members as practice for the real interschool competition in Hattiesburg, where they won six out of ten debates. Only the team members participated in the tournaments, but their back-ups were prepared to take over if necessary.

The responsibility of an annual staff is to compile a yearbook, but the desire of the Mingo Chito staff was to produce a superior yearbook which would be the pride of YHS. The aims of the staff were to achieve an All-American rating, and, more important, to please the student body and faculty.

Under the expert guidance of Mrs. Watson, weary staffers worked long hours until the desired result was attained. New recruits had to be trained and deadlines had to be met. Things got hectic at times, but all efforts were well rewarded when another memorable year was captured between the covers of the 1965 MINGO CHITO.

Typist Mary Wynn Sutherland struggles to maintain sanity in the midst of confusion created by illegible annual copy.

"There's a gaping hole on the front page and today's the deadline!" exclaims a harried staffer. Mrs. Parker calmly replies, "Well, let's fill it up!" With her expert advice and guidance, Mrs. Parker readily assisted the young journalists in the production of the YAZOOAN.

The light burned late in the press room while the dedicated staffers applied their writing skills to produce the monthly paper. The YAZOOAN won high acclaim in national competition, but even more important, it was the pride of the entire student body.

Library Club

At the annual Library tea, faculty members examine a new shipment of books. Miss Hester and Mrs. Williams scrutinize one of them. Could it be a history book?

Mary Sutherland, Elaine Roark, and Beth Langston proudly admire their scrapbook which won second place at the State Library Association of Mississippi. Beth was elected vice-president of this state-wide group.

As always, the club presented an unusual and delightful assembly program. Shrieks and screams filled the auditorium as Ringo Starr, alias Brig Harris, was introduced on the "To Tell the Truth" panel. The four seekers of truth tried to discern the imposters.

Book reviews were given to acquaint the members with a wide variety of books. Every YHS student has access to the library and profits by the invaluable assistance of the student librarians.

The DECA Club, under the leadership of Mr. A. L. Bond is an affiliate of the National Distributive Education Clubs of America. DECA's program is designed to develop future leaders for marketing and distributing. At the statewide convention at Gulfport, George Brooks was elected President of the DECA Clubs of Mississippi. During March the annual Employee-Employer banquet was held. The members exercised their skills in selling when they operated the concession stands at the home basketball games.

"Gosh, Mr. Miller, this incessant writing really strains my brain," exclaims a harried Writers' Club member. The unrelenting sponsor continued, however, to enforce the adage "Practice makes perfect." By writing features, editorials, and news and sports stories, the novice writers became more aware of the world of journalism. They also learned to plan and draw up pages to be better trained as potential members of one of our publication staffs.

Jr.-Sr. Dramatics

Lights! Camera! Action! Invaluable experience was gained by the prodigies of Mr. Jimmy Caldwell, the Jr.-Sr. Dramatics Club sponsor and the talented speech teacher at YHS, in the enacting of pantomimes and one-act plays, as well as through participation in the Senior play. In these, the club members achieved confidence and self-assurance.

What sacrifices we actresses must make for our performances! We even have to paint our hair!

These novice performers diligently practice their acting skills, hoping that the cameras they face will not be candid.

Fresh.-Soph. Dramatics

Aspiring to the day when they may become members of the Junior-Senior Dramatics Club and perhaps be a part of the senior play cast, the Freshman-Sophomore Dramatic Club indulged in a pursuit of the knowledge of the theater. At each meeting, the club enacted short plays or portions of longer ones.

After long hours of tedious work and hard study, the young Thespians presented a play, "Thanksgiving Beats the Dutch," for the delight and enjoyment of the student body and faculty. Under the supervision of Miss Ann Rogers, the members gave interpretive readings and learned acting skills.

"Please! Please! I beg it of you!" Could this be a proposal? No, the Y-Club members were just once again selling Yazoo Indian ballpoint pens. Later in the year, however, proposals, screams, and clashing paddles were heard as the Y-Club held what they termed "one of the most successful Y-Club initiations ever."

To show their appreciation to head coach "Red" Jenkins, the members bought frames for pictures of his former teams and financed the laying of a new tile floor in his office. Proceeds from the initiation, carwash, and the Y-Club dance went for this project. At the dance, Caroline Barbour was crowned the Y-Club Sweetheart for 1965.

Every Friday the members, dressed in red and black uniforms, took their places in pep assembly. They cheered and shook rah-rahs to help raise the spirit and enthusiasm of the team and student body before the game that night. The Pep Squad was aided greatly by the invaluable assistance of their sponsor Miss Louise Hendrix.

As in previous years, the Y-Teens worked diligently for improvement of mind, character, and personality and for the promotion of Christian attitudes among the students of YHS. Several projects were undertaken by the girls during the year. The first was a Christmas offering of food and gifts to a needy family. At Easter a similar project was carried out. To finance these projects, several car washes were held.

With the advent of spring and spring fever, the Y-Teens had a beatnik party. Exotic paintings and unusual poetry readings highlighted the occasion.

Educational and entertaining programs were given by various guest speakers. Biographies of several famous Christian men and women were presented during club meetings. Miss Carroll, the ardent young sponsor, boosted the ego of the members with her own enthusiasm.

The Junior-Senior Y-Teens engaged in many worthwhile projects throughout the year. A family was "adopted" at Christmas and was presented an assortment of Christmas "goodies." When Easter approached, several Y-Teen members eagerly prepared Easter baskets so the "Bunny" could surprise three little children of a deserving family. Under the expert leadership of Mrs. Israel, with the cooperation of the club members, other commendable deeds were carried out to further develop the Christian character of its members.

"Mirror, mirror on the wall, who's the fairest of them all?" ponders a 4-H Club member. Also members of the electrical club, these young ladies participated in various electrical projects. One was the religious display during the Christmas season at Four Points.

Mr. Buck Coats, associate county agent, worked closely with the 4-H boys to help instruct them in farm operations and management. This year the two most often chosen fields in 4-H work were agriculture and animal husbandry. In these fields the boys learned the advantages of different methods.

On appointed Wednesdays Mr. Coats and Mr. Jimmy Burchfield met with the group and reviewed new and improved farm and livestock techniques with them.

Two members of the club, Thomas Strickland and Denny Paul, were also members of the Yazoo County Livestock Judging Team along with John Phillips of Holly Bluff and Mike Chester of Benton. The team won first place ratings in Greenwood and at the Mississippi State Fair.

Denny Paul won a trip to 4-H Congress at Chicago through his outstanding 4-H achievements and his work with his prize lamb. Through hard work and diligent study, each member better prepared himself as a leader of tomorrow.

Thomas Strickland seems to agree that the judging team deserved the first place they won.

Mixed Chorus

Early in the school year, the Mixed Chorus inspired the audience with their beautiful singing at the Sacred Music Concert held at the First Presbyterian Church.

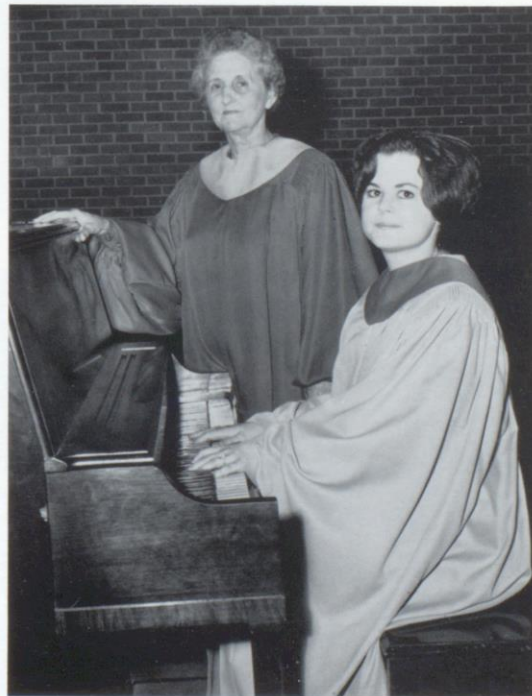

The various seasons of the year were joyously met with songs by the Mixed Chorus. At Christmas the group presented "Christmas Music at Home and Abroad." As an encore, they sang a revised version of the traditional "Jingle Bells."

In an assembly program, the chorus presented an Easter special portraying the Crucifixion. Always in demand, they sang part of their special at the Easter Sunrise Service.

After long hours of intense practice, the Mixed Chorus and the other choral organizations participated in the District choral festival in Jackson. There, the Girls' Sextet and Boys' Quartet received superior ratings. Following this, the Girls' Sextet participated in the state choral festival.

Patience, practice, and hard work were combined to make this year one of the most successful for the Mixed Chorus.

By their untiring efforts, Miss Bernice Gay, director, and Judy Waaser, accompanist, were the main spring in the success of the YHS choral organizations.

Drum Majorette Kathy Crowder

Marching Band

The Marching Band under the direction of Mr. Donald Vaughan was much in evidence at every football game at home and away. The shows and precision marching were executed with great style and added much to each game.

The band participated in several parades including the annual Winter Festival in Greenwood and the Yazoo City Christmas Parade.

With many hours of early morning and late afternoon practices behind them and filled with high hopes, the marching band presented a difficult show of precision drills for State Band Contest and received an excellent rating.

They were led on the field by Drum Majorette Kathy Crowder. Other officers were President Paul Evans, Vice-President Bill Mashburn, Secretary Carolyn Quin and Librarian Eileen Wilkinson.

Head majorette Carolyn Quin

Majorettes

This year the band was led onto the field by a high-spirited group of majorettes. Beginning their preparation for the football season in the summer months, these girls worked hard, long hours in both private and group practice learning and perfecting original marching, twirling, and dance routines. They performed looking their best despite the wind and rain that occurred during some of the parades and football pre-game and half-time shows. For the annual Christmas parade the majorettes all got new uniforms designed by Carolyn Quin, for which they were highly praised. Adding color, variety, and interest to the YHS marching band, the vivacious majorettes were as fine a group as any school could wish—a group worthy of this school's pride.

Majorettes for the 1964-65 marching season were Judy Davis, Barbara Knott, Marsha Gelman, Anne Lambert, Jo Reeves, Linda Vaughan.

Director Ronald Vaughan accepts an invitation for the stage band to play at the PAY Convention.

Stage Band

A comparative newcomer to the high school music program is the reorganized three-year old stage band. This organization is open by audition to all band members and rounds out the music program for the more advanced students who give their own time for weekly practice sessions. Through the sale of circus tickets, the band was able to secure navy blazers, and made a sharp appearance at the stage band festival in early May. They performed many times during the year by invitation including programs for the state PAY convention, the Mozart music club, and the thrilling experience of playing for 7,000 people at the state coliseum for the State Citizen Council Rally.

This group is directed by Mr. Donald Vaughan.

Concert Band

The Concert Band made several appearances during the 1964-65 school year. One of the most popular programs was its annual Christmas concert for assembly during which the students joined the group in singing favorite carols and holiday songs.

Under the direction of Mr. Stanley C. Beers, the band improved its instrumentation and musical quality. Through the playing of both classical and modern pieces, members increased their knowledge of interpretation, styles and the art of musicianship.

High point for the band was the band festival held in Clinton in May.

Senior Members

These eight band members have faithfully performed their many duties throughout their band careers. Several plan to continue their music by participation in various college bands next fall. James Dawes and Kathy Crowder have been awarded band scholarships to the University of Mississippi and University of Southern Mississippi respectively.

The Stage Band warms up before its performance at the coliseum in Jackson. At right is vocalist Frances Cooper.

Long hours of practice, determination, desire for perfection, and a deep love and appreciation of music are the qualities exemplified by our outstanding musicians. Those who participate in ensembles, solos, clinics, Lions band tryouts; those who give their all, their best, these are the students we honor on these pages. Their rewards may be letters, certificates or medals, but more important is their deep satisfaction of a job well done.

Carolyn Quin was presented the Tau Beta Sigma award for outstanding bandswoman and a medal for superior work as student conductor. Kathy Crowder was recognized as the most valuable member by selection of the band, and received medals for superiors earned in drum major and alto sax solo.

Stepping high to the beat of the bass drum, the Yazoo City Marching Band demonstrates the look of precision drill.

These outstanding band members were selected to participate in the state and district clinics. BOTTOM ROW: Betty Jo Beers, Frances Moore, Marsha Gelman, Barbara Knott, Karen Clark. SECOND ROW: Jimmy Spears, James Dawes, Kay Smith, Kathy Crowder, Carolyn Quin, Jerry Davis. James, Kay, and Kathy were our three representatives to the state clinic in Laurel.

Sixteen students tried out for the Mississippi Lions All-State Band this year and the two selected to go to Los Angeles were Kathy Crowder and Linda Vaughan. Both girls have demonstrated exceptional dancing and twirling ability and will hold the positions of majorettes with the band.

Chosen outstanding individual player at the state Stage Band Festival, Betty Jo Beers practices diligently on the vibraharp.

Mr. and Miss YHS

Haley Barbour Mary Lee Anderson

For four years vivacious Mary Lee Anderson endeared herself to all Yazooans by her smile and magnetic personality. In addition to numerous Who's Who selections, Mary Lee was the only girl ever to be Homecoming queen for two years. Versatile and active, she was prominent in all phases of life at YHS. In short, she typified all that a Miss YHS should or could be.

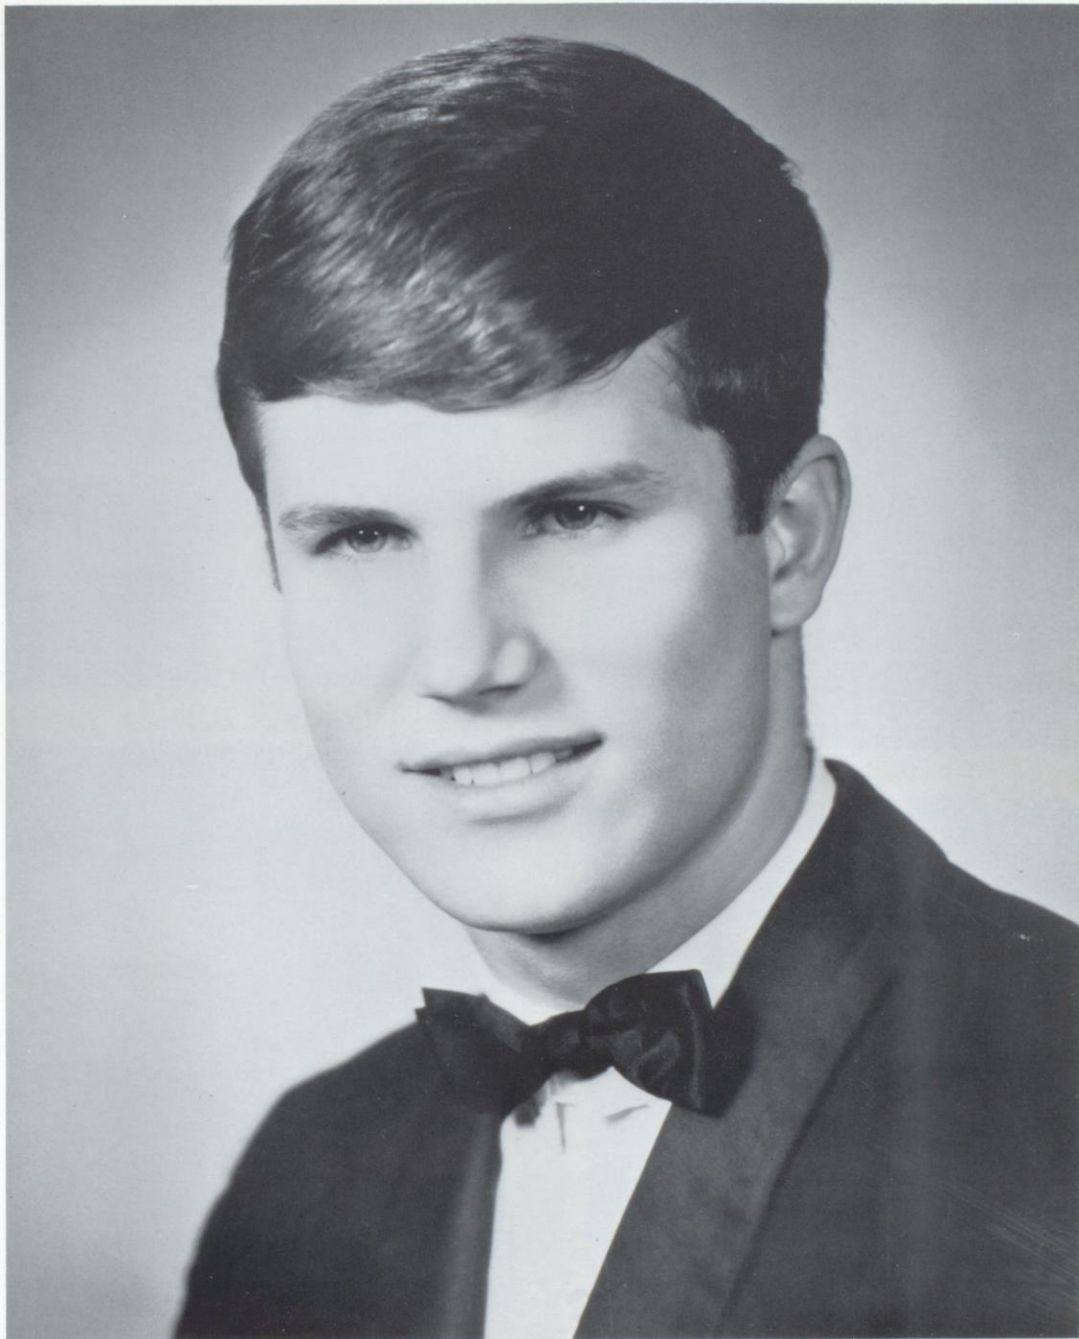

Known for his cocky friendliness and versatility, Haley Barbour was elected Mr. YHS, capping four years of honors at Yazoo High. The Student Body Presidency came to him after serving as "Veep" the preceding year. He lettered two years in football, four in baseball, and captained both teams his senior year. Despite his activities and light-heartedness, he was a straight "A" student.

National Honor Society

Suspense grew as anxious juniors and seniors awaited that long-anticipated event, the National Honor Society program. On the very special day, April 8, 1965—the day when the worry, wondering, and work of some really paid off—twenty-two members were initiated into the honor society. The 1964 members defined the Society's purpose and emphasized the importance of its requirements—character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

Haley Barbour served as narrator during the program. Holding the candle with the gold ribbon symbolizing the golden rays of knowledge, Betty Kellum showed the importance of scholarship in determining success. Kathy Crowder, displaying the royal purple of leadership, pointed out the fact that one must be able to follow before he can lead. Carolyn Quin's candle with the white ribbon reflected the purity of character. Holding the candle bearing a crimson ribbon, symbolic of service to the school and community.

National Athletic Society

In recognition for outstanding achievement both in the athletic field and in the classroom, five new members were accepted into this society, while the six 1964 members were recognized. To be eligible for membership, a boy must letter in at least one major sport, must have shown high principles of character at all times on the playing field, and must rank in the upper third of his class.

Girls' and Boys' State

Girls' and Boys' State sponsored by the American Legion is something looked forward to by many juniors. Representatives are sent by the civic clubs to Belhaven College and Hinds Junior College for a week of fun and planned activity. Divided into two parties—the Nationalists and Federalists, they set up a form of government patterned by our own state government and learn the duties of each office.

As Miss Hester softly played the Alma Mater, the new members of the Quill and Scroll were called to the stage to receive their pins and membership cards. To gain admission into this society, one must be a senior in the upper third of his class and be recommended by the supervisor for having done outstanding work on some school publication. This year thirty-one new members were inducted into the society. Of these Caroline Barbour and Diane Hassin received diamond pins in recognition for superior work on the paper.

The 1964 Indian Football squad was under the direction of four of the finest coaches who stress the importance of proper physical condition and the right mental attitude. This year, this leadership was provided by Head Coach Eulas "Red" Jenkins and his assistants Leslie Clark, Jerry Brown, and Jerry Johnson.

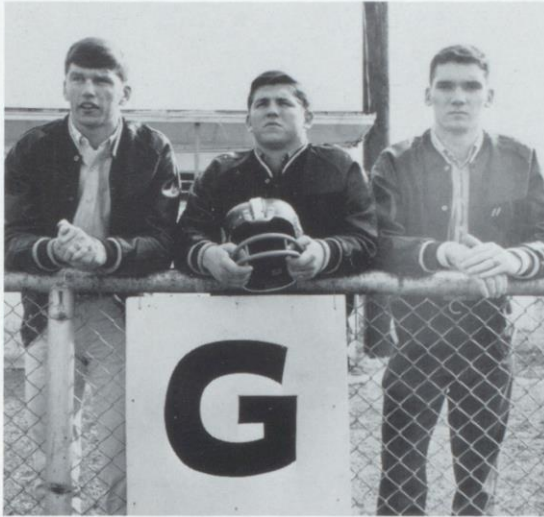

Coach Jenkins came to Yazoo from Southwest Junior College in 1959. Since that time he has tremendously increased the overall winning record and boosted school spirit. However one coach, no matter how great cannot produce a championship team. Thus Coach Jenkins has heavily depended on his assistants who were among the best in the Big-8.

Captains-Managers- Award Winners

Buz Morrow, Haley Barbour and Wayne Finley make a final survey of their familiar gridiron battlefield.

Permanent captains are elected by the team members at the end of each season. The captains are chosen according to the qualities of sportsmanship and leadership which they possess. Elected as captains this year were center Buz Morrow a two year letterman, guard Haley Barbour also a two year letterman and Wayne Finley a three year letterman at end.

The faith of the team in Buz Morrow, All-Big Eight Center, was proven at the T.D. club banquet when he was presented the Best Blocker and Tackler Award and the Most Valuable Player Trophy.

Because of an incessant desire for improvement and development of body co-ordination Bobby Jones was selected by the coaching staff as the Most Improved Player.

Ray Heidel can truly be proud of himself for possessing the high qualities of sportsmanship both on and off the field which were necessary to win him the Fred Rand Memorial Sportsmanship Award.

Managers Tommy Everett, James Berberette, David Hatchett, Jim Brooks and Griffin Norquist are casually dressed for pre-season preparations.

Head Manager David Hatchett, assisted by senior manager Griffin Norquist, had the responsibility of supervising underclassmen James Berberette and Jim Brooks. David Hatchett and Jim Brooks eagerly carried out the duties of team trainers while Griffin Norquist and James Berberette performed the duties of managers. This team was the most efficient in the history of YHS.

Bobby Jones, Buz Morrow and Ray Heidel proudly display their trophies received for their outstanding gridiron performances.

Guard Tommy Cooper springs Obie McClure on a 12-yard gallop.

Quarterback Ray Heidel sneaks it across Tupelo's double-stripe.

Ray Heidel sweeps around left end in Columbus tilt.

This vigorous 1964 Indian squad began practice in the extreme heat of early August to prepare for their season opener against Jackson Provine. The Indians proved to be a worthy tribe, but the Rams proved to be a little more spirited and emerged the victor by a 19-13 score.

Dennis Melton prepares to stick a Clarksdale halfback as "Big Ben" Burrell looks on ominously.

Corner back Dennis Melton and the "Big Kid" Jim Simmons try desperately to keep Columbus halfback Doug Dale from rounding the corner.

On the following week Tupelo's Golden Wave visited Yazoo and topped the scoring list 9-7 on a field goal. Next the Indians, hungry for a victory, trekked to "Wildcat" country. Sparkling both on offense and defense, the Redmen whipped the Clarksdale-Cohoma Cats 14-6 and happily recorded their first victory of the season.

Linebacker Haley Barbour and end Wayne Finley prepare to put the "quietus" on a stumbling Provine halfback.

Defensive safeties Perrin Ferris and Ray Heidel yank Corinth's quarterback away from the goal line.

On several occasions the spectacular ball handling of senior quarterback, Perrin Ferris, brought the Indians out of deep holes. Here he is shown rounding right end after faking to fullback Obie McClure. The fake sucked in the whole Murrah team and Perrin ran 27 yards for a TD without a hand put on him. This put the Indians ahead 14-13 in that ill-fated game.

Specialist Ray Heidel boots the pigskin through the Clarksdale uprights to give Yazoo a first quarter 7-0 lead.

End Jim Simmons bobbles pass before making a circus catch.

On September 25 the Indians hosted a spirited Murrah team. After a hard fought battle, in which the Indians came from behind to have the Mustangs 14-13 in the final seconds, Murrah booted a field goal on a disputed "fifth" down and was given a 16-14 decision. The ensuing week saw the Indians make a comeback edging Jackson Central 14-7.

Indian quarterback Ray Heidel is stopped by a rugged Provine Ram.

Following the trip to "Tiger" land the Indians entertained the Greenwood Bulldogs on the home field. This old rival game seemed to inspire the Yazooans who piled up a 16-6 score over the "doggies." Now on the winning streak, the Indians went on the war-path and tromped the Vicksburg Greenies 26-14 on Homecoming night.

Obie McClure eludes a Columbus safety and sprints up the field on one of the many determined runs that helped the Indians move the ball during each game. McClure was a main cog in a Yazoo City offense that averaged 14 points a game.

Outstanding linebacker "Buz" Morrow makes a saving tackle on a Canton Panther.

Heidel carries as Simmons flattens a Tupelo defender. Sophomore halfback Jeffery Smith is hauled down by 2 Corinth warriors after a short gain.

Guard Bobby Jones playing with a broken hand, strains to keep up with fleet halfback Dennis Melton. Jones did and threw a key block, but Dennis got knocked out of bounds on the one yard line.

Tommy Cooper and Ben Newton start to end the run of the Clarksdale quarterback, as Richard Murphy and Haley Barbour come up fast to make sure that the job gets finished.

The next week the Indians traveled to the Northeast corner of the state, only to lose to Corinth 35-14 after taking a 7-0 lead. On the following week the Redmen rode into "Hornet" territory, again took an early 7-0 lead, but saw powerful Greenville grab a 34-14 decision. The Indians returned home and held North Big-8 Champions Columbus scoreless until the final minutes, when the Generals picked off a 14-0 win. Closing the season the Indians hosted arch-rival Canton and slapped them 20-7

They said it was impossible. It had never been accomplished before—but, the ninth grade Warriors did it. Under the excellent guidance of Coaches Sammy Howard and El Edmonds, the ninth grade Warriors completed their first perfect season in school history.

This high spirited team reported for practice in the extreme heat of late August. Neither the heat nor hard work seemed to bother the members of this talented team and because of this desire to "suck it up and go" they were able to reward the Coaches and city with their first perfect season.

The books finally closed on the football season and all attention was focused toward the Yazoo Indian Cagers' schedule. This year's team was composed of only four varsity veterans and eight advancements from last year's B-Team. Under the guidance of "rookie" Coach El Edmonds, a man of superb talents, the varsity cagers posted a 6-16 record. Although the record was not one to be admired, Coach Edmonds was well-pleased with the individual performances of many of his team members.

This team could well be called a "building team," for many of its members were young and inexperienced. From a group of twelve, only five were seniors. Although the number of losses greatly outnumbered the wins, the year cannot be classed unsuccessful; much needed experience in shooting, dribbling, and team work was gained.

The 1965 Indian Basketeers went into every encounter with a desire to win, yet realizing that only one team could emerge the victor. However, this realization of victory did not hamper their spirit or fight, and when the game was over, if they had to accept defeat, they did so in a sportsmanlike manner, remembering well the words of Grantland Rice: "It matters not whether he won or lost, but how he played the game."

Basketball

Managers Butch Hill and Charles Jackson eagerly prepare the game balls for play just before an exciting encounter with arch rival Holly Bluff.

Coach Edmonds hurriedly briefed starting five on last minute instructions which were necessary to win in crucial times like these.

Jim Simmons (24) captured all glory by gaining possession of the ball as David Roberts (12) received only the knocks and bruises.

A group of excited Indians seem to have taken the sting out of a lone Greenville Hornet during local cage action.

With no opponent in sight Ray Heidel decided to get in a little practice shooting.

B-Team

Although the record of the B-Team posted only two wins from a rugged ten-game schedule, their season was much better than the win-loss record showed. All ten teams they met were strong, experienced, Big-8 competitors and many proved to be just a little too much for the junior cagers. However, the experience gained from their encounters will be a vital asset to next year's varsity team.

Indianettes

This year's Indianettes, under the leadership of Coaches Hester and Rush, wound up with a most impressive season. Including tournament competition, their record stood at 9 wins and 5 losses. This was a record which all team members could look upon and say "a job well done!"

The nucleus of the team was developed around the six returning lettermen, but many outstanding inexperienced underclassmen were great assets to the Indianettes. Next year's team should be an experienced one with a great desire to win.

Under the guidance of veteran coach Sammy Howard, the ninth grade cagers again finished an impressive season. This scrappy group was big, strong, and experienced. Their hustle and spirit was tops throughout the season and their desire to win was well-rewarded by the final results of their games. Truly this fine team could be perfectly described by the phrase—"physically aggressive and mentally alert."

"Victory, Victory is Our Cry" was the resounding chant heard through the walls of old YHS as our vivacious cheerleaders shouted to the high-spirited student body. These misses enthusiastically planned skits and entertainment for the pep assemblies, as well as decorated the goal posts for each home game. The alternate cheerleaders assisted the varsity in promoting school spirit and good sportsmanship.

Homecoming at YHS

Leading the regal procession through the city were Senior maid, Caroline Barbour, and Junior maid, Polly Woodell.

For the second consecutive year Mary Lee Anderson reigned over the Indians' Homecoming Festivities. Accompanied by her court, consisting of Caroline Barbour, Polly Woodell, Cam Chapman, and Lanie Thomas, and the band, cheerleaders, pep squad, and enthusiastic seniors, Mary Lee rode through the gateway city preparing for an Indian victory that night. The redmen came through with a 26-14 disposal of the Vicksburg Greenies. As always, in addition to the splendor of the court, YHS loved the return of never-forgotten faces to her campus and activities.

Typical of their positions, Sophomore and Freshman maids, Cam Chapman and Lanie Thomas, were gracious and friendly to their admiring subjects.

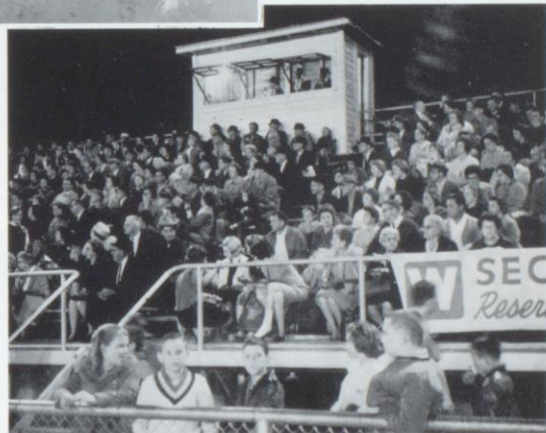

The high-stepping Yazoo High School marching band led a parade of exuberant Indian followers through the downtown area, awing all who witnessed with the beauty of the court and the spirit of YHS.

Bubbling with excitement, the Princesses, Brig Harris, Meridith Foose, Jo Ann Coleman and Ann Hines anxiously await the thrill of riding in Homecoming Parade.

In carrying out the tradition of Homecoming, enthusiastic alumni visit the hometown as they greet old classmates and recall wonderful memories of YHS.

Intramurals

Tommy Bond sees it is too late to do anything, as Larry Bloom exhibits a never-say-die performance. Richard Saxton spots a receiver all alone in the end zone for a touchdown and Massey downed Roberts 25-6.

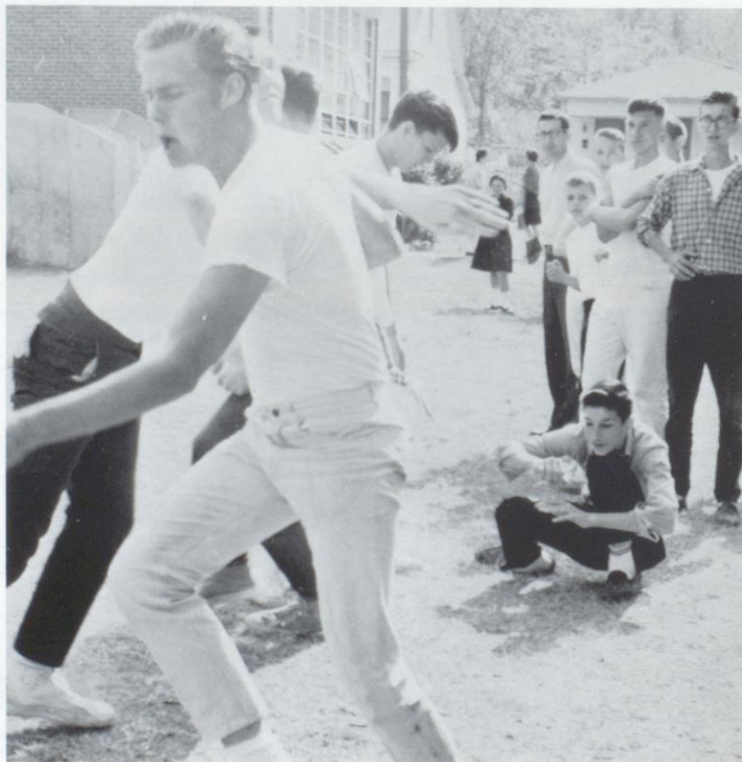

Two would-be defenders try to stop Walter White but he still gets his pass off against Massey. Despite the pass, Massey still proved supreme over the freshmen and went on to the finals, only to be beaten by Hester's seniors.

Football

This year's Intramural football season was a booming success. Under the direction of Student Council Vice-President Paul Evans, the teams showed high spirit and good sportsmanship throughout the tournament. The teams were composed of six men, each wearing a flag in his back pocket. The opposition would attempt to pull the flag out and when he did, the person was down. This method prevented many injuries, as the tournament had only one serious injury and that being a knee injury to Colin Campbell.

Kinneth Hope rounds right end in a futile attempt to score against Hester's seniors, but Johnny Ross gets his flag just in time. Such action as this highlighted the season and made it a big success.

Caroline Barbour seems to be pushed away from the action by defensive ace, Pam Warden, as Sheila Bland looks on.

Brenda Newton drives in for a lay-up against Rogers, as Smith's seniors defeat the Sophomores in the championship game.

Basketball

Freshmen clash in preliminary games to earn the right to meet sophomores for a semifinal berth. Here Ardis Russell, one of the many fine referees this tournament had, is trying to get out of the way of the flying ball.

Smith and Rogers tie for the Girls' Intramural Championship. The heavily-favored seniors were surprised by the spirit and enthusiasm of the sophomores. The seniors still came out on the top after a long hard-played game.

Wayne Finley takes advantage of his height over defensive man, Steve Melton, to sink a basket as Hester downed Rogers for the Championship.

Basketball

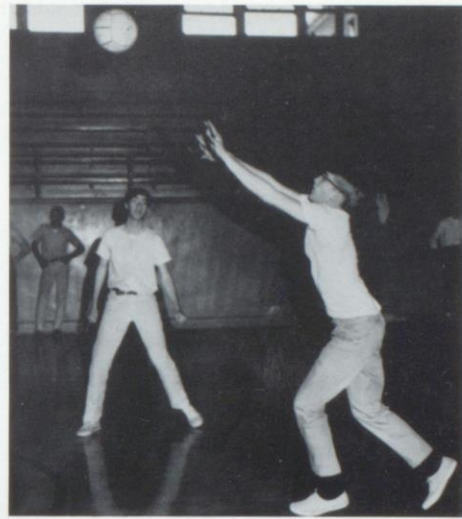

"Here I am, Pistol," says Jackie Goodwin as James falls to the floor. Wayne Finley seems to be faked off by the move, but Frank Spencer moves in to assist and Charles Allen provides a screen to keep off Steve Melton.

Tom Bbyd is ready for the tip from teammate Tommy Browning; Andy Walker sees it hopeless to try to out jump an upperclassman.

Guy Collins prepares to slam the ball down opponent's throat.

"Knock it up to me, Charlie," shouts Ronnie Brown as Charles Jackson displays a unique form in returning the serve.

Volleyball

Powerful Otto Browning heaves the ball toward his foes.

Senior homerooms, Smith and Hester, battle for a spot in the finals. Smith defeated Hester, but fell to beat Roberd's mighty sophomores.

Student Life

Clara Dean always had her mind on rooting for the Indians.

Winter

Pondering Brent Melton seems to be stumped by his mid-term exam but Carnis Kelly is just breezing through.

David Ryan controls the tip-off for the Yazoo City 9th grade Warriors and they head for another victory.

Clint McInnis and Colin Campbell look on as David Roberts battles a Vicksburg Greenie for a rebound.

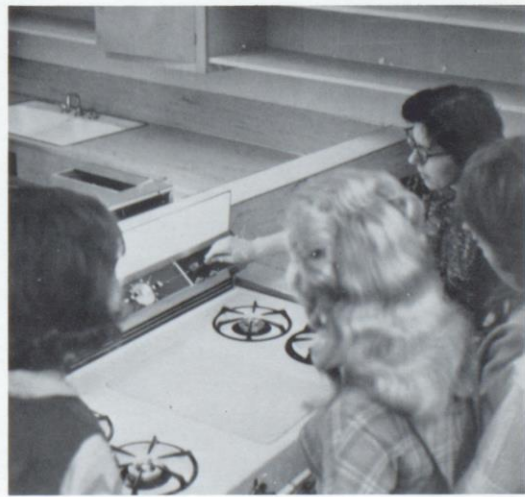

"Let me have that ball, Coach, my kid's watching the game" Young lovers like Johnny Ervin and Prim Hinshaw celebrated Valentines in the most contagious way.

Judy Kemp and Jimmy Dixon dissect one of Mrs. Roberd's famous bull frogs.

Now, girls, this knob which turns on the oven light is just one of the modern conveniences on this new stove.

Good food and fellowship prepare these seniors for the skits to be put on by the juniors for their entertainment.

Remember . . .

the nights you burned the midnight oil;
 the satisfaction of an "A" or the humiliation of an "F";
 the surprise a special "someone" gave you on Valentine's Day;
 the spring holidays—sleep;
 that fabulous senior play, "Seventeenth Summer."
 the swinging band assemblies;
 those exciting basketball games;

"Sparky" Beers rocks out with his vibes at the band's annual Christmas assembly.

No ex-biology student will forget dissecting those slinky, little worms.

Mrs. M. T. Windham accepts a book given to the library in memory of her daughter, Mary Opal Windham Johnson.

Intramural action was fast and furious as the basketball playoffs raged on.

"It seems, William, that the negative has a definite advantage. There is but one chance"—Mr. Caldwell.

Play resumes in girls' intramural basketball as Malinda Houston prepares to grab tip-off.

Spring

"I knew that guy was a fake with fancy clothes and such."

"I tell you, Caesar, these orgies get better every year." exclaims Cleopatra, alias Caroline Barbour.

Senior parties, like this first grade "fling," will never be forgotten by the graduating class.

Latin initiates carry out their masters' improbable commands.

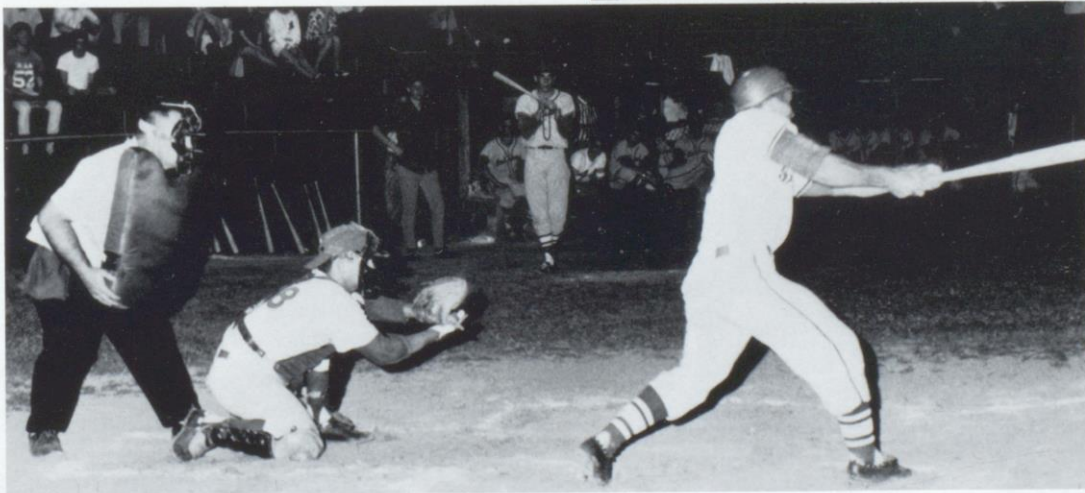

The Mingo Chito Staff gives their retiring sponsor, Mrs. Watson, a small memento for her 11 years of faithful service to the yearbook.

Mr. Kelly congratulates David Hatchett on his winning the Touchdown Club Scholarship.

Freshman outfielder David Ryan lines a single to left center en route to a 14-3 obliteration of Clinton.

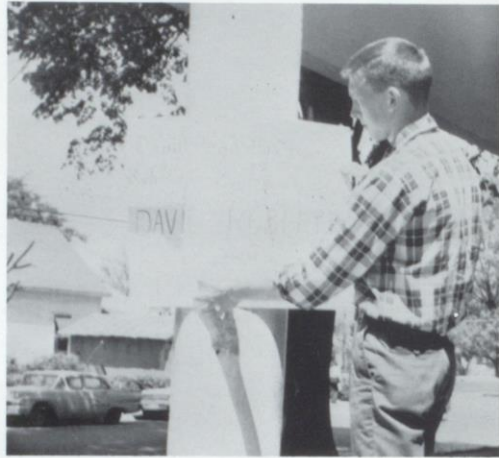

An excellent prognosticator, Buz Morrow, picks his candidate De Graeber to win the 1965-66 presidency of the student body.

Remember . . .

the numerous senior parties—something each senior will never forget;
that long-awaited senior trip to New Orleans;
how hard the junior nominees campaigned during the week of Student Council elections;

David Roberts puts up a poster on behalf of his candidacy for student body prexy.

Junior Ray Heidel seems awe-struck as he finally gets his senior ring.

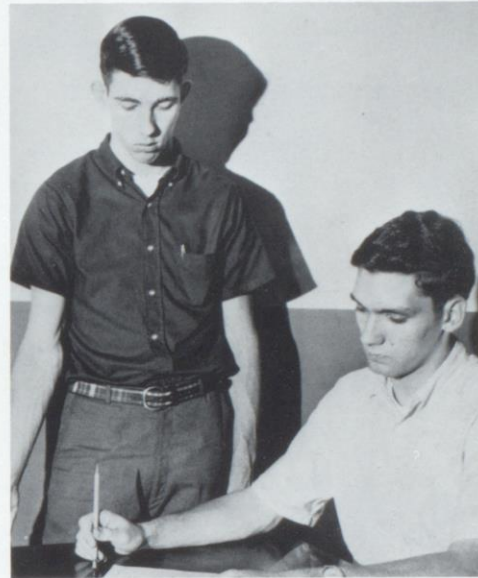

During National Library Week, members of the local club visited the public library and were interviewed by Mr. David Highbaugh, manager of the local radio station.

Captain Lucy Shackelford, on behalf of the girls' basketball team, presents Coaches Rush and Hester a plaque in appreciation of their years of service to the athletic department at YHS.

Congratulations go to Paul Evans, recipient of the John R. Anderson award and to Wayne Finley, the winner of the Dixie Youth baseball scholarship.

"My high school education only prepared me to hold a job as a parking meter."

Freshman Chuck Estes had the honor of being a page in the United States Senate.

Seemingly entranced, Jimmy Hollis concludes the Class Day by sending the seniors out with a snappy recessional.

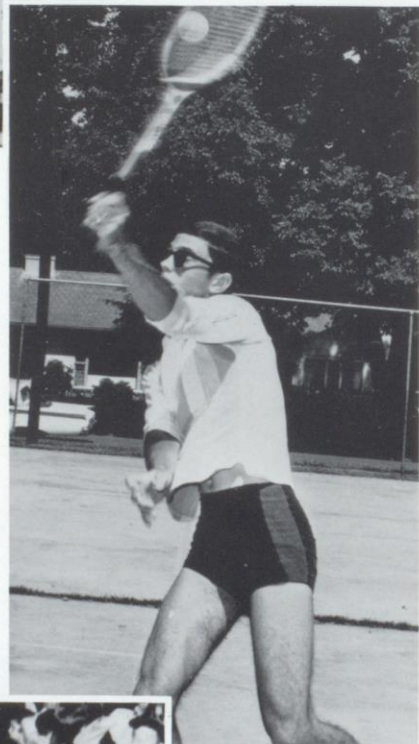

Summer

"Place one hand on your hip and put the other one out in front of you like this," says cheerleader Beth Bagwell as she and Pat Whitehead, Dale Holmes and Ann Tinnin practice during the summer months.

Norma Johnson and Shirley Foster try desperately to get Carol Davis and Betty Hendrix to get in—but with no success.

In a tennis match, ace Larry Carter hits a ball to the corner of the court in an effort to defeat his opponent.

"Eight days a week I lo-ve you." Everybody seems to be having a great time at the "Midnight til Dawn" dance held at the armory after graduation.

"Push, Beverly!" shouts Ann Tinnin. "Now that the warm weather is here, I want to ride with the top down."

"Now, let's see," thinks Debbie Nelson as she packs for Girls' State. "What have I forgotten to put in?"

Remember . . .

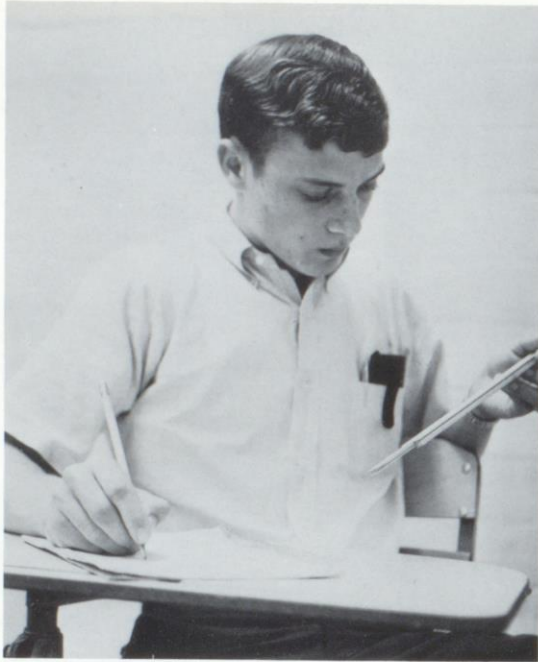

those long, hot days in summer school;
 all the leisure time we had to do as we wish;
 the fun we had going swimming and skiing—getting blistered;
 the annual party held at the Teen Center when the 1965 Mingo Chitos arrived;
 the exciting Dixie League baseball games each night;
 those unforgettable experiences of camp and of Girls' and Boys' State.

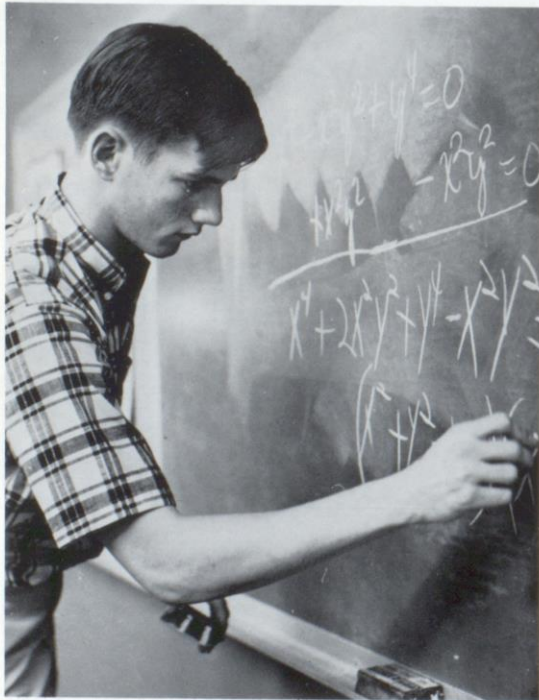

"Mr. Gibbs, this is our final deadline and this package has to get to Texas in time—please mail it special delivery," pleads Jane Beale, co-editor of the Mingo Chito.

"Sleep, sleep, sleep—now that school is out, I can get my beauty rest. I dare anybody to disturb me," dreams Miss Marty Carroll.

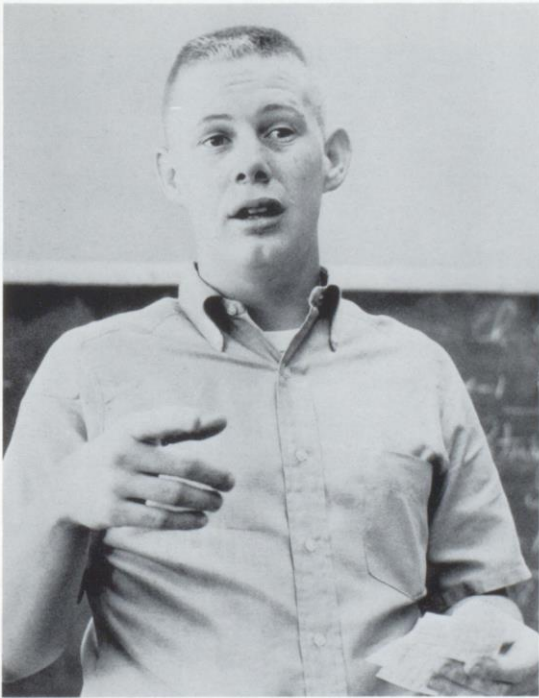

Many moods

are reflected in familiar faces

at YHS.

In Memoriam

Mrs. Belle Cobb

In tribute to one whose noble qualities, attitudes and opinions influenced the many students she knew and taught, to one who became a legend in the annals of education because of her devoted service to the youth of Yazoo City, and to one who gave many of us a living definition of "hard-working" loyalty for 16 years, we proudly commemorate the 1965 Mingo Chito in memory of Mrs. Belle Cobb.

Though a year at YHS can never be fully recaptured except by imagination, we, the MINGO CHITO staff, have done our best to capture the activities of our school through its people, its life, and its spirit and package it into this small book. We gratefully and humbly thank all whose help was indispensable in the publication of this 19th edition.

We tried to reflect every phase of life at YHS . . . a crowd in the halls . . . a tired Yazooan worker . . .

a touch football game . . . a face in the crowd . . . and the reign of our Homecoming queen. So when you thumb through these pages and see yourself—think of it as a movement recalled and stamped forever on these pages. Just think, if we hadn't taken a picture of it, you may not have remembered.

We, the staff of the 1965 MINGO CHITO, hope this yearbook will bring you as many happy moments as we received in compiling it.
